

Upper left: On the morning after the storm yachts were parked as casually as cars in the streets of Stony Creek. "Starlight" is land-going boat at far end of street.

Upper right: Cottages on the Stony Creek shore front fared badly when the hurricane and tidal wave struck.

Center left: Some of the wreckage in Stony Creek.

Center right: The remains of cottages left at Stony Creek.

Lower left: A Short Beach house got the full brunt of this huge fallen tree.

Lower right: A boat goes a-visiting at Indian Neck.

Photos by Walter L. Carlton and I. A. Sneiderman