1820 Federal Census
Branford M33-3, pages 88-108

There are two or sometimes three numbers on each page, however, on some pages the numbers are missing. Pages 88-108 are used by Heritage Quest to identify the pages. Pages 82 to 102 are used in the enumerator's index for New Haven County. North Branford and Northford continue to be included in the Branford census and are not separated until 1850.

Enumeration day for the fourth federal census was August 7, 1820 and thirteen months was allowed for its completion because six new states had been added to the union. The enumerator is listed as Reuben Elliott (of Guilford). There is an additional age category of 16-18 for males and may be an overlap of the 10-16 or 16-26 category counting some males twice. This age bracket was added to determine how many males were of an age to serve in the militia. There are also categories for commerce (heading C), factories (heading F), and farms.

The names on the census are fairly easy to read and spelling is standardized. First name abbreviations are not used. Hash marks in the columns for the male and female categories are well marked. Again the term junior or 2nd may mean the son of or the youngest person in town of that name. This writer has added the page and line numbers for each entry for easier reference, they are not on the original.

The 1820 census not only records slaves and free colored separately, but there are age categories for these groups. Unfortunately, the enumerator for Branford did a poor job delineating these column lines and hash marks and it is impossible to read. This writer has put "other" in the comment section if any of these columns were marked.

There are column totals every two pages and grand totals at the end for Branford, and for Branford and Guilford together. The totals on the enclosed sheets are the actual totals prepared by this writer. As with previous censuses, they differ from those on the original census. The original census has the following totals:

Males

<10 279

10-16 155

16-18 36

16-26 167

26-45 229

>45 233

Females

<10 263

10-16 149

16-26 218

26-45 255

>45 234

Foreigners (For)=zero

Farms=395
Commerce (C)=59
Factories (F)=94

Total white males (for Branford)=1063
White females=1119
Colored males=19
Colored females=25
Slaves=4
Total=2230

Attached is this writer's interpretation of the genealogy of the people in the 1820 census. It is noted when relatives lived next to or near each other. The growth between 1810 and 1820 was slower than the previous decade as families begin to venture westward to New York and beyond. Couples were also having fewer children.

The route the enumerator took is quite clear:

Starting at the Wallingford border, south through Northford.

Through the Bare Plains section, North Branford center, along North Branford Road to Branford.

To Damascus, Stony Creek, back out Paved Street, along East Main Street to Mill Plain.

Back along East Main to Branford center, along Main Street going west.

There are many families living near the current library and in the Bradley Street area.

The enumerator continues west to Branford Hills and Lake Saltonstall.

Takes North Harbor Street south to Branford Point and records those living at Double Beach.

Probably takes North Harbor back to Main Street and follows South Main, Meadow and Montowese Streets.

Finishes with the families on East Main Street by the Guilford line and a few at Damascus.
