

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY'S REALM

Keith—Johnston.

The marriage of Mr. Irenus Prime Keith of Winchester, Tenn., who received his degree from the Law school on Wednesday, and Miss Jasmine Ethridge Johnston of Atlanta, Georgia, will take place to-day at Marquand Chapel. Rev. Anson Phelps Stokes, jr., secretary of the university, will perform the ceremony. A wedding at Marquand Chapel is an unusual event, and will be attended by a number of Mr. Keith's classmates. Mr. and Mrs. Keith will sail from New York late to-day for Savannah.

Fairchild—Townsend.

Mr. John Webster Townsend of Duncan hall has announced the engagement of his daughter, Miss Mary Eleanor Townsend, to Mr. Henry Pratt Fairchild, assistant instructor of commercial geography at Yale.

Kunkel—Jennings.

Cards have been received here announcing the marriage of Mr. Beverly Waugh Kunkel, instructor of biology at Yale, and Miss Caroline D. Jennings, daughter of Mrs. Napoleon Jennings of Rochester, N. Y., which took place at the home of the bride on Wednesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Kunkel sailed this week for a summer abroad. They will reside in this city.

Scoville—Marley.

The marriage of Miss Mary Edna Marley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Marley of Howard avenue and Mr. Henry Foster Scoville, will take place at the home of the bride on Monday, June twenty-ninth. Only the relatives and a few friends have been bidden to the ceremony, which will be followed by a large reception.

Judd—Oaks.

On Wednesday evening, the marriage of Miss Emily Daisy Oakes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Oakes of Whalley avenue, and Mr. Josiah Judd of Trumbull street took place at the Trinity M. E. church. The officiating clergyman was Rev. John W. Maynard, the pastor of the church. Pink and green was the color scheme of the decorations, quantities of palms and pink peonies being used to bank the platform. While the guests were arriving and during the ceremony, a musical program was rendered by Mr. Frank W. Canada, the organist of the church. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white net with yoke of Duchess lace and trimmings of white satin. Her veil was fastened with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of white sweet peas. The only attendant was Miss Susie M. Leonard, the maid of honor. Her gown was of pink brocaded mull and she carried a

AT THE SUMMER HOTELS

Montowese House Opening Wednesday.

The Montowese House at Indian Neck will be formally opened for the season on Wednesday, July 1. The orchestra will arrive at that time and everything will be in readiness for the season. During the month of June there have been more guests at the hotel than there were last June, which is a good outlook for the season. There are a number expected for the Fourth of July, many going there for the quiet. Many of the cottages have already been opened for the season.

Several Dances at Shoreham.

Dances at the summer hotels seem to be the favorite pastime just at present. At the Shoreham last evening an informal dance was given by the Quinpiac Canoe club, and this evening the Annex Athletic association will give an informal dance. The regular dances for the house guests are to be given this season, and there is to be one at the hotel on Wednesday of next week. The cottages are filling up well at Morris Cove this season, and the outlook is for a very successful summer.

Dance at Branford Point.

The first dance of the season at the Branford Point House will be given this evening for the house guests. Music will be furnished by an orchestra of twenty pieces.

Forty-five members of the class of '88, who were here for their reunion this week, had a dinner at this house on Monday evening. An excellent menu had been prepared for the occasion and a pleasant evening was spent.

To Give Hops at the Pembroke.

Manager W. J. Phillips of the Pembroke Hotel in Woodmont is to give weekly hops in the large dining room this season. They were so successful last season and so largely attended that it was decided to give them again this summer. The first one will be this evening. The prospects are very bright for a good season at the hotel and already there are a large number of guests. The first of July will witness the arrival of many more.

Reception at Brockett's Point.

Among the social events of the week at Brockett's Point was a reception and dance Thursday evening given by Mr. and Mrs. Dawson, it being the first anniversary of their marriage. The dancing was from 8.30 until 10 in the pavilion, when all the guests were invited to "The Lodge," where the Dawsons are spending the summer, and a collation was served. The intermissions between the dances were enlivened by Ex-Mayor and Mrs. F. B. Farnsworth of Orange street have gone to their cottage at Bradley Point for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Greist of Fountain street, Westville, are at Rocky Top, Mt. Carmel, for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace F. Chase of Orange street had with them over Commencement, Mr. Willis Hunt of Los Angeles, Cal.

Mrs. Edwin R. Embree of Fountain street has been spending this week in Southington.

Miss L. A. Bliss, instructor of music at Smith college, is the guest of Mrs. E. J. Walker of West Chapel street.

Rev. F. H. L. Hammond, pastor of the West Haven Methodist church, has been in Middletown this week, attending the twentieth reunion of his class at Wesleyan college.

Mr. Charles H. Small and family of Dwight street have gone to their cottage at Merwin's Point for the summer.

BRANFORD POINT HOUSE FROM THE SOUTH.

Dr. and Mrs. Willis E. Hartshorn and young son of Chapel street have gone to Woodmont for the summer.

Mr. George MacKay is spending a couple of weeks at Lake Bomoseen, Vermont, in the Green Mountains. Mr. MacKay is baritone soloist at the Humphrey Street Congregational church, and will give two or three song recitals while away.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Heller and family of Edwards street have gone to their cottage at Savin Rock for the summer.

Miss Alice E. Reynolds of Main street, West Haven, sailed a few days ago for Europe. She will travel in England, Germany, Switzerland, and Norway before returning home about the middle of September.

Rev. and Mrs. George A. Alcott of Mrs. J. Wilder Howe and little daughter of Lake place are at the Howe cottage at Morris Cove for the summer.

Mr. Nunzio Arzillo, the Italian baritone, who has been in Europe for several months, returned to this city the latter part of the week. He will be in town during the summer and will probably return to Italy in the fall and continue his study of the voice.

Dr. and Mrs. E. P. Pitman of Sylvan avenue left a few days ago for Minnesota, where they expect to spend a month.

Mr. Harry Sinclair Lewis, a member of the university, left a few days ago for his home in Sauk Center, Minnesota. Mr. Lewis was at the Upton Sinclair colony, and after it was destroyed by fire returned to the university to continue his course. He will return to New Haven in the fall.

Mr. Frank Langdale and family of Edgewood avenue have gone to their cottage at Woodmont for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Mendel of Academy street have gone to their cottage on Beach street, West Haven, for the summer.

Mrs. Sidney Perlin Butler of Dwight street has returned from a visit with friends in Woodstock.

Dr. and Mrs. Edward Thorstenberg of Lynwood place had as their guests over commencement, Dr. Herman Thorstenberg of Roanoke college, Salem, Virginia, and Mrs. Thorstenberg.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson H. Pierce of Bradley street have gone to their cottage at Clinton for the summer.

Miss Anna Swenson of Lindborg, Kansas, is spending the summer with her sister, Mrs. Axel E. Vestling. Miss Swenson is a daughter of the late President Swenson of Bethany college.

Dr. William W. Herrick, who was graduated from the university in 1902 and from the Yale Medical school in 1905, has recently opened an office for the practice of medicine at 76 East 86th street, New York. Dr. Herrick has been located in New York practically all of the time since his graduation. He has many friends in this city who will be interested to know that he is to make New York his home. Dr. Herrick was in town for his sexennial reunion.

YALE'S FESTIVITIES.

in the proceeding and ceased to be undergraduates.

MR. TAFT DEDICATES LEDYARD MEMORIAL.

Tuesday was graduates' day, and after any number of more or less serious affairs of Tuesday morning the crowds began to mass just before noon near the new campus, where the Ledyard Memorial flagstaff had been erected, and here just at 12 o'clock Secretary Taft stepped up and began the presentation of the flagstaff to the university. It was officially received by President Hadley in the name of the university. The crowds about the flagstaff were immense, as any number who had no direct interest in the memorial had pressed up to hear and see the candidate for president of the United States.

THE PROCESSION TO YALE FIELD.

The dedication over, all was busy preparation for the baseball game. The preparations were interrupted for a moment by the downpour of rain, but before anyone became discouraged the rain ceased and the clearing sun soon had everyone back in line again. At about 2.30 o'clock the procession started to the field. There was a very distinct line of march out Chapel street, a march which for the first time assumed some order and coherency. The classes marched in order of graduation and the spectacle was a beautiful one and, withal, very interesting, for, in spite of the heat, the members of the younger classes found plenty of surplus spirits to play many a prank on the march and the serpent dance was in evidence at all times.

Arrived at the field, the procession re-formed with the still older classes at its head, those who had come out of the celebration of the night before. All dressed in citizens' clothing, the procession started for Woolsey hall from the old campus at 10.15, and on its arrival the formal graduation ceremonies commenced. Chief in interest here were the honorary degrees, which were distributed, among others, to J. Pierpont Morgan of Wall street, New York City; former Senator Spooner; Samuel Elder, a prominent and loyal Yale graduate who is on the Yale firing line in Boston; and Senor Nabuco, the Italian ambassador to Washington.

MR. TAFT AGAIN SPEAKS AT ALUMNI DINNER.

The formal Commencement was followed by the Alumni dinner. Classes were called for entrance to the dinner, which was held in the dining hall, in the order of their graduating and the list started with the class of 1844. The one representative of this class was cheered to the echo as he stepped up and grasped his class numerals and started into the hall. At the dinner, President Hadley made a summary of the financial report of the year, showing Yale to be in a fairly prosperous condition in spite of the financial depression. Other speakers were Hugh Black, one of the honorary degree recipients; Samuel Elder, ex-President Dwight, and Secretary Taft. The speech of Secretary Taft was cheered at every sentence. His reference to the life and work of former President Cleveland, news of whose death had just been received, was especially well received. The formal Commencement week in New Haven ended with the president's reception to graduates and their families, held in Memorial hall on Wednesday afternoon.

'83 HOLD LARGE REUNION.

Between eighty-five and ninety members of the class of 1883 of Yale returned for the twenty-fifth anniversary this week. The headquarters were at George W. Fleming's on Crown street, and everything had been done for the comfort and pleasure of the guests. The exterior of the house was almost covered with American and Yale flags. The walls of the rooms were also draped with the flags, and in the room which had been arranged for the reception room, were any number of college pictures of twenty-five years ago, which had been brought on by the members of the committee. There were also a number of posters of the ball games and boat races. A long awning led from this room to a large tent in the back yard. This was fitted up with tables, swings and chairs and was a most delightful place for the graduates to spend their leisure time. Strings of Japanese lanterns served as decorations. The feature of this tent which particularly appealed to the members of the class was a section of the old campus fence. The two parlors were used for the dining room, and it was at the end of this room that a large picture of Secretary Taft on a Yale blue background was unveiled on Monday evening as a surprise to the class. The secretary's brother, Horace B. Taft of Watertown, is a member of the class and was present at the reunion. Mr. Fleming lives in the old Professor white sweet peas. The only attendant was Miss Susie M. Leonard, the maid of honor. Her gown was of pink brocaded mull and she carried a shower bouquet of pink sweet peas. Mr. Arthur Spencer of Worcester, Mass., was the best man, and the ushers were Mr. Alonzo Albert, Mr. Robert Warren, Mr. Howard Talmadge and Mr. Frank Hubbard. Following the ceremony there was an informal reception in the church parlors, Mr. and Mrs. Oakes and Mr. Maynard receiving with the bridal party. Mrs. Oakes wore a very becoming gown of lavender silk. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Judd left for their wedding journey, the bride wearing a gown of blue Rajah silk and blue hat. Upon their return they will reside on Linden street. Mr. and Mrs. Judd were the recipients of many beautiful gifts. To the maid of honor the bride gave a gold brooch set with pearls, and to the best man and ushers, the groom gave gold scarf pins.

Brown—Renfrew.

On Thursday evening at the Humphrey Street church occurred the wedding of Miss Ethel L. Renfrew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Renfrew of Nash street, and Mr. George M. Brown of this city. The church was prettily decorated for the occasion, the color scheme being yellow and white. Rev. Frank R. Luckey, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony at half-past seven o'clock in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. The bride was gowned in white messaline silk and lace. She wore a veil and carried a bouquet of bride roses. She was attended by two bridesmaids, Miss Bertha M. Rochfort of this city and Miss Mary E. White of Brooklyn. Their gowns were of pale yellow banzai silk and they carried bouquets of daisies and maidenhair ferns. The little flower girl, Helen E. Atwater, was in white and carried a basket of flowers. Mr. Brown had for his best man, his brother, Mr. Charles Brown, Yale '04, and the ushers were Mr. Harry L. Ostrander, Mr. William Atwater, Mr. Walter Cowells and Mr. D. Spencer Berger. A small reception at the bride's home followed the ceremony, after which Mr. and Mrs. Brown left for a wedding trip. The bride's going away gown was a pongee suit with trimmings of Copenhagen blue and a hat to match. They are to reside on Williams street, West Haven.

Smith—Everhart.

The marriage of Miss E. Louise Everhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Everhart of Lake place, and Mr. Albert T. Smith will take place at the home of the bride on Wednesday evening, July first, at half-past six o'clock. A reception will follow the ceremony.

vinon, when all the guests were invited to "The Lodge," where the Dawsons are spending the summer, and a collation was served. The intermissions between the dances were enlivened by comic songs by Mr. Seymour Nealis and Shakespearean readings by Leon Partridge, who was at one time known all over the country for his beautiful rendition of Shakespeare. "He Did It So Politely," which Mr. Nealis sings with great expression, occasioned several encores. The evening was a decided success and much enjoyed by all those present. The old-fashioned Virginia reel, in which Mr. and Mrs. Brockett took part, was a big hit. After the dancing Mr. Nealis, in a very appropriate and pretty speech, presented to Mrs. Dawson a beautiful cut glass piece, the gift of the cottagers. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Brockett, Mr. and Mrs. and Miss Dolan, Mr. and Mrs. Gates, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Nealis, and Mrs. Nealis and Miss Nealis of Boston, Doctor and Mrs. Hague, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Partridge, Miss Dawson of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Vredenburg, Dr. Charles Reynolds and Mr. Dan Nealis. Life is very gay at Brockett's this year and many good times are anticipated. Several new yachts have been added to the fleet and a small yacht club is being talked of.

BRIEF SOCIAL NOTES

Miss Charlotte Greist of Marvelwood, Westville, who returned from Paris a short time ago, has gone to Boston for a short stay.

Bishop Charles E. Woodcock and family of Louisville, Kentucky, are spending the summer at Leland, Michigan. They are well known here, having resided in the city for some time while Mr. Woodcock was rector of the Church of the Ascension.

Mrs. Frederick L. Covell and Mrs. Mary H. Covell of Derby avenue will leave early in July for a visit with friends in Massachusetts. Among other places they will visit Springfield, and will be away for two or three weeks.

Arrived at the field, the procession re-formed with the still older classes at its head, those who had come out on the cars now taking the lead. As the line marched on the field, a band headed all and was immediately followed by the class of 1878, with Secretary Taft in the front line. The line marched around a complete circle before all of the stands, and everywhere there were cheers to the echo for the popular secretary, and then, as he took his seat with his class, all the other classes, as they marched by his stand, stopped and gave a long cheer with three "Tafts" on the end.

THE CELEBRATION AND GRADUATION.

The result of the baseball game was satisfactory, and, after a long march back by the houses of President Hadley and popular professors, the men dispersed to their class dinners, and re-assembled on the campus at about 10 o'clock, where the jollity headquarters overflowed for two more hours. The gates erected about the campus by the class of 1902 were of some service, though the guards did not carry out the spirit of their duties to any great extent. There were no tickets of admission required and any adult person in a sober condition was admitted. It was the hope that the fences would keep out the rabble of small boys and the objectionable element which mars these after celebrations. There were, however, a great concourse of boys, though as one came up Chapel street it seemed that they must all have been shut out, there was such a number hanging about the gates. Late Tuesday night the costumes were removed for the last time, and Wednesday morning the campus presented a very mild spectacle compared with the strange rites
